ST BART'S RUGBY SQUAD BENEFITS FROM NEW KIT

The rugby season has kicked off to a flying start at St Bartholomew's School as the teams have been given 20 new match balls and the 1st XV boys are sporting brand new training shirts.

The school has taken delivery of the new kit thanks to the generosity of The Lamb in Enborne Road. The landladies, Kim Bazzichi and Ann Ayliffe are keen to encourage school sport and took part in a scheme, Guinness Club Together, which supports grassroots rugby clubs throughout the UK. By redeeming keg caps the pub has been able to provide St Bart's with essential rugby equipment.

Mr Dave McGall, Head of PE at St Bart's, said: "We are extremely grateful for this support. These are Premiership balls which we are already using across all our teams. To buy rugby balls of this standard is costly and our boys are delighted to practise with top quality equipment. As well as this, our 1st team now have the appropriate shirts for their training sessions."

Rugby squads in younger years at St Bart's have already embarked on their first inter school matches of the season, and the first teams take to the pitch against Henley College on 23 September after their already successful trial matches against local schools last week.
