SOCIOLOGY VISIT

Year 12

Year 12 students studying Sociology visited the V&A Childhood Museum in London to develop their knowledge and understanding of the A Level course topic.

On arrival we explored the museum, enabling us to complete the worksheets. The museum was filled with toys from a range of different eras, including some we had as children, such as Tamagotchi. By looking at these displays we were able to develop our knowledge and we were provided with rich information to use in the classroom.

After a good lunch at the cafe in the museum we moved onto a session involved with finding evidence. The topic was on Britain's Child Migrants, which is a sensitive issue, but important to our course. The museum showed us pictures from historians who used primary and secondary sources to build an image of events in the past. We were given various statements and required to find the evidence to decide whether these were correct or not. This provided us with the opportunity to learn about child migration and emphasised the importance of good research methods.

Finally we attended a talk on Childhood. This explained the journey of childhood beginning from the 1700s and helped us understand how the definition of childhood has changed over time, linking it to the school leaving age from being 12, to 15 and now 18.

We were shown pictures of toys children have played with over the years and it raised questions about the reasons behind the types of toys. For instance we linked children playing 'medicine' to the fact many died at a very young age of 10 or 11 due to lack of medical advances.

Is this a boy or a girl?

The session illustrated how schooling has changed over this period of time, as well as the clothing worn. It was normal for boys at infant school age to wear dresses.

At primary school age children were usually separated into single sex schools and illustrations showed that lunch times tended to be rough with fights and physical bullying amongst the boys whereas at the girls' schools they held hands and played together.

In schools which were mixed sex, there was a dividing wall in the playground to separate the boys and the girls. Many children left school at the age of 12, although some did continue to secondary school.

The day was very informative and interesting and particularly relevant to Sociology A Level. Thank you to Ms French for accompanying us.

FIVES SUCCESS

Congratulations to Sasha Howgate for her success at the National Fives Festival for Women. Sasha was paired with a girl from Ipswich and formed the only state school participants in the competition. They reached the plate final, having won all their six group matches, playing against an experienced pair from Shrewsbury. This was a hard fought match and they held their own for much of the game but finally fell to the Shrewsbury pair. Sasha and her partner were crowned Plate runners-up which is a very commendable performance for a young and inexperienced pair.

U15 Report – 29 February

The squad finished off a very successful and enjoyable season with a great day at the Nationals. The sun was shining and the girls were in high spirits knowing they had a challenging day ahead of them.

The first game was against Guildford High, renowned for their strength and a loss of 0-4 was a good result against a team of their calibre. We then played Heathfield and won a tight game 4-3. Against Berkhamsted we narrowly lost 0-2 but then enjoyed a good win against Queen Margaret's 2-0. Against St George's Harpenden it was close with St Bart's scoring an early goal, but the opponents got into their stride and won 3-1. Our final game was against Harrogate and this was a draw 1-1. Overall in section 1 the team finished in 4th place which was a good and well deserved result.

Thank you to the squad who have worked hard over the season to develop their skills and game play. They have displayed an excellent level of lacrosse.

Well done to the Sixth Form netball team who finished 4th out of seven teams in the Area Netball Tournament last week.

Girls' Rugby Development Afternoon 24 February, Newbury Rugby Club

A team of Year 9 and 10 girls had the opportunity to attend a rugby development afternoon at Newbury Rugby Club. The girls have been training on Mondays after school with Ben Wills so this was a perfect opportunity for them to put their skills into a competitive situation against other local schools.

They played four games against Kennet, Park House, The Holt 1 and The Holt 2. The game against Holt 1 was their strongest and everyone played to the best of their ability. Some excellent tries were made by Miya and some strong tackles by Bethan which helped to secure a good victory. St Bart's won three matches and drew with Kennet, which reflects a very successful afternoon.

The team now look forward to taking part in the School Games Competition on 16 March. Squad – P A Beard, R Newark, M Kriel, V Osborn, A Stephens, C Piotrak, B Harris, I Martin, C Pattenden, M Edridge, B Havard.
